

Camp Kee Tov Screen Free Policy

CKT is proud to be unplugged! Camp is a wonderful place for kids to unplug from technology while developing deep relationships and communication skills without electronic distractions. In the past there has been some flexibility about this, however we have found that the prevalence of electronics has become a hindrance for the immersive experience that Camp Kee Tov seeks to create for the campers. After much thought and careful consideration, Camp Kee Tov is screen free. Camp will be one of the few places where kids can truly unplug. We believe this policy will: promote socialization between campers allow campers to fully embrace the connections they make with other campers and counselors remove the divide between campers who come from families that can afford and can't afford the expensive technology reduce the stress associated with the damage to and theft of electronics give campers a much needed break from the world of technology allow campers to fully immerse themselves in the activities and ruach of camp ensure that our campers are not exposed to age inappropriate material Therefore, please do not allow your child to bring electronic items to Camp. This includes, but is not limited to the following: cell phones/smart phones, smart watches, iPods, laptops, electronic games, electronic readers, or cameras with internet-uploading capabilities. We recognize you might like to communicate with your child during camp hours. Please contact the office if you need to get an urgent message to your child. The office and counselors are in communication throughout the day and will relay your messages. We take this policy seriously and expect you to help your campers to follow these guidelines. If campers bring devices with them to Camp that are not allowed, we will take them away. They will be returned at the end of the day.

Exceptions are made for legitimate reasons - please contact the office if this is necessary.
